Relax and Mix With Local Operations Professionals

-- someone or some company you know may be selected but this is always a great moment to see how APICS can improve a career and make businesses run better.

Finally, we've invited Rick Leach (CSCP, CPIM) to give a brief talk on CSCP certification and other APICS educational offerings (Rick Leach is the APICS Pacific Western District Manager. Rick has 35 years of manufacturing and operations background and is active in APICS at the regional, national and international levels). At the conclusion of Rick's talk you should have a much greater appreciation and understanding of CSCP, the benefits of CSCP, how it fits into the APICS Body of Knowledge (BOK) and how CSCP and CPIM compliment each other. As mentioned above APICS-SWIV has completed their first CSCP training -- and with great results. We're very pleased to have Rick at this meeting and welcome you to take advantage of his presence before and after his presentation.

Don't delay - we expect this to be a well-attended meeting and we'll be limiting reservations to what the room can hold. If you've worked in operations at any level then please plan to attend by RSVPing before Friday, June 12, 2009. We want to see you there so RSVP, ASAP -- and again, you don't have to be a member of APICS to come to this final meeting of 2008-2009. We look forward to seeing you there!

This last APICS-SWIV meeting of the 2008-2009 season is entirely about bringing you together with other operations professionals -- there have certainly been a lot of changes in our region's business climate and this is a great chance to network and hear what's going on now directly from people who are closest to the real activity. Come for the networking and food but stick around for the rest of the presentations:

We've got some fun final chapter business where we recognize key individual and corporate members
